

The Ascension

Well it was almost time for Court again that fateful day Thursday the 14th of May. I was all prepared, I had three defences ready . There are many types of Estoppels you see, and I had figured out the game. (Later in my book I will explain the charges laid upon my applications and the possible defences) .

All of a sudden I remembered something it was something he had said 'I could have saved myself'. I was curious as to what would happen so I quickly wrote my speech, and decided that although I was to show my best defence; I was not going to use it (later in my book I will reveal my speech and I will tell you why, I did all this for it wasn't just because of what happened in history although i was playing along).

So I changed my plan for the day in court. After all I still had two defences left. Whilst one was to show the three defences. One only used two and out of the two used ,the last defence was to be used in the speech at the pulpit (sort of the Sermon upon the Mount) in the defence of my final application.

Court Again 14TH May 2009

Then My father and I were in court again. The Judge asked me whether the previous Judgment was wrong or right. M' Lord it was right. Asides from which I did not want to be guilty of Res Judicata.

I then very quickly sacrificed the majority of my applications this left the matter of the remains the final application.

After Court and upon early Sunday Morn (The third day)

I was dreaming and my Grandfather was there sitting upon the end of my bed and he looked grim. 'So what have you learned'. Well Grandfather I said I felt it really ought to have gone through. I was very courteous but when I become a lawyer (if i get that far) it seems i must do better and try harder. Still i have learnt a lot I guess unfortunately there was no Ascension .

My Grandfather smiled across at me well that's why i asked your father to make you listen to the judgement in court and the Judges very last words . You were ready to leave early. They may not have risen from the remains, then he smiled and said. 'Did you not see the technical effect of all of them rising from the computer implementation :).' Well now he was grinning at me.

Oh yes i see now!! Grandfather oh yes i see. So that's why it was a heavenly Ascension. The story is complete!!!

It only remains for me to thank the British Patent Office and Patents Court for playing their incredible part in the amazing re-enaction of perhaps the greatest story in History, bringing it to life, For i was only one poor player upon the stage. It truly resembles old times in fact it's almost unbelievable . I can assure you i was simply following a path. The whole experience has left me a richer man for having been on such a spiritual journey with my applications.

Finally to say 'Do not look for my applications amongst the dead!!! why ? They have risen !' :):)
