

Public Speaking

Public speaking is very powerful. Once you have done this once you will have the bug and believe me you won't want to stop!

Its all really about the power of words and how you convey them. There is great power to speech, so much so that we have come to rely on it.

For example imagine you woke up on Monday morning and couldn't speak. It could seriously affect your whole day! Sure you could mime or make signs and provided the other person understood those signs you'd be fine. Think how much time and effort it would take though. Besides are you really understanding the other person fully ?

Effective communication is even more powerful and can propel your career/business. Communications skills are in every day life becoming more and more sought after. You need to be able to do this in Business / Career especially if you want your career/business to grow.

In Media , Marketing for example it is essential, in teaching these skills would make life much more pleasant for the students and aid learning.

Did you ever have a teacher that could make you go to sleep ? Yet another that really inspired you ?

So why did you listen to the one that really inspired you ?

Is public speaking something that only some people can do or can anyone do it ?
What about the guy who stutters ?

Basically in my experience anybody can public speak, including the guy who stutters, however, the guy who stutters will have to work harder on not just the content but the delivery of speech through controlled breathing excersizes. Although it's a learning process it can be done.

In the tasters section I'll tell you more showing you how to captivate your audiences. Keep them from falling to sleep.

With practice, whether you stutter or not you will learn how to speak in public and captivate your audiences.

Have you ever noticed the teacher who droned on in a single monotone? Or maybe you were asleep? One of the tricks of pubic speaking is to vary your voice.

Hmmm I wonder how you would react if suddenly the drone changed that teacher suddenly became enthused in the middle of the drone, and in a deeper louder voice uttered something. Would it make you jump ? Well this is my mini-taster and here is an end to it.

Proceed to the tasters section for more details, it contains a wealth of information on many subjects including Public Speaking.